YOUNG MAN HAS LUCKY FALL

Falls Seventy Feet in Dream Mine
and is Practically Uninjured

Last Monday evening while going on shift at the Dream Mine, Spencer Woodward, the young son of B. F. Woodward of this city, caught his shoe in a ladder and fell backward down a seventy foot vertical shaft and landed on solid limestone at the bottom.

Three men who were working at the bottom of the shaft, carried him out unconscious.

Dr. Winters of Payson was hurriedly summoned and arrived soon. After an examination it was found that no bones were broken and Mr. Woodward remained at the mine all night.

In the morning he was brought to this city and is getting along excellent.

Drs. who have examined the conditions of the fall say Mr. Woodward must be made of rubber.

In 1906 young Woodward was struck in the head with a lead boulder while working in the Beck Tunnel mine in Tintic, causing a double operation of trepan performed by Dr. Richards of B. D. S. Hospital.

B. F. Woodward, the young man's father was at the Idaho Gem mine in Bear Lake, Idaho, when the accident happened, and hurried home as quickly as possible.

BOY INJURED BY A HORSE

Monday morning, the three youngest sons of Alma Andrus, Len, Lester and Reed, decided to have a horse race.

Everything progressed nicely, Lester coming ahead by a small margin, when his horse ran into a cow that was crossing the road, throwing the boy off in front. The horse kept coming and ran over him. One of the other horses coming behind, also ran over him, inflicting several severe injuries about the head.

No bones were broken, however, and Lester is rapidly recovering from his shaking up.

CAN'T MAKE POLICE BELIEVE

New York Youngster Who Wishes
Guardians of the Peace Were
Not So Olficious.

There is a very small girl in this town who believes in police persecution; that is to say, she believes that it exists, though she is anything but in favor of it, says the New York Sun. Her home is downtown on the East side and she goes to one of the kindergartens on the upper West side.

The young lady's mother has a work and so the four-year-old goes to kindergarten alone. She starts out with two nickels tightly held in her small palm and she's just tall enough to reach up to the elevated ticket office to secure her transportation. The ticket chopper is kind enough to dole out her ticket for her. Everything goes well on the uptown trip because the crowd she isn't noticed.

But when she starts home she's a different person. Every policeman that she sees insists that she's lost. It is useless for her to explain that she knows perfectly well where she's going; she's too small to be believed, that's all. Two or three times a week she is bundled off to the station house in spite of her tearful protestations. There she produces a much-fingered card on which is the phone number of a saloon near her home. The saloonkeeper tells the police that it's all right, explains the circumstances, and she is permitted to go her way. But she is getting mighty tired of it, just the same.

A Conundrum.

Why is a musical instrument like the open sea? Because it is often sounded.—Home Notes.

Fable of the Mice.

The Town Mouse and the Country Mouse engaged in a friendly rivalry to see which could best entertain the other.

The Town Mouse led off. He introduced the Country Mouse to a great many people of the right sort, who graciously lapped up all the champagne he cared to buy—in short, exhausted the resources of urban hospitality.

"Pretty good!" the Country Mouse admitted. "But say, you come out to my place in your car and run as fast as you like. I'm Justice of the Peace."

Thereupon the Town Mouse had to acknowledge that the rustic life held greater possibilities.—Puck.

MEMORIAL DAY

The following appropriate Memorial Day poem written by Mrs. Hannah Cornaby for Memorial Day in 1892, and was published in the issue of June 2nd, 1892 of the Spanish Fork Sun.

What fitter tribute can we bring
Than the fair flowers of early spring?
How better can we homage pay
To grace our Memorial day?

Sweet flowers, thy beauty o'er the land,
Upspringing 'round on every hand,
Blooming on fair or barren sod,
But nurtured by the hand of God

Gather these flowers so richly spread
To decorate the sleeping dead,
Go weave a garland for the brave
Who fill a hero's honored grave.

Twine the fair wreath for innocence,
For those our Father gathered hence,
Ere yet their infant spirits knew
Aught of the tears that life bedew.

Bright immortals should mark the tomb
Where youth is laid in early bloom,
To point beyond this life of pain,
When parted friends will meet again.

Go strew the grave of the aged one
Whose mission has been nobly done,
And now in peace awaits the dawn
Of promised resurrection morn.

Visit the lonely in your way,
On this our Decoration Day,
And lest their graves should be forgot,
Place there the sweet forget-me-not.

Miss not one grave, for great or small,
Remember, we are kindred all,
The children of one Father Great,
What ever here has been our state.

Let the fair flowers be scattered 'round
Upon each consecrated mound,
'Till, as glad offerings they rise
A grateful incense to the skies.

Angels silent notes are taking,
Of each act a record making,
And on its pages may we see,
Ye did this kindness unto Me.

Benjamin Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Okleman were made happy last Friday morning by the arrival of a baby boy.

A pretty home wedding reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Bingham last Friday evening in honor of the wedding of their daughter Emma and Fred Davis. The young people were married at the Salt Lake Temple on the 18th inst. Both are popular in this vicinity and we join their many friends in offering congratulatory wishes.

Funeral services were held over the remains of Charles Bingham at the L. D. S. Church Sunday afternoon. The body was taken to Payson for interment.

A touch of rheumatism, or a tinge of neuralgia, whatever the trouble is, Chamberlain's Liniment drives away the pain at once and cures the complaint quickly. First application gives relief. Sold by all dealers.

Up and Down.
At Bristol, Eng., a lad of 14 years old climbed a factory chimney 150 feet high to show how smart he was. Then about a dozen men worked for three hours to get him down and show how smart they were. The boy lost his nerve and had to be lowered by a rope, and he was sent to jail for ten days for raising a fuss.

The Test of Merit

Spanish Fork People Are Given Convincing Proof.

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Spanish Fork resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

Read the following:
Mrs. David Evans, Second Ward, Spanish Fork, Utah, says: "Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills over two years ago, I have been in good health, except for an occasional backache which has been quickly disposed of by a few doses of this remedy. You may continue to publish the statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in August 1907. I was severely afflicted with kidney trouble and I suffered intensely from pains through my back. Dizzy spells and headaches often annoyed me and at times I really thought I would have to give up. One of my relatives had taken Doan's Kidney Pills with gratifying results and on her advice, I gave them a trial, procuring my supply at Larson's drug store. Doan's Kidney Pills acted just as represented and a few doses were all that was required to relieve me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Considerate Burglar.

A burglar broke into a house in Berlin one night lately and carried off a jewel casket. He returned it soon afterward, with a note saying that as it only contained family documents and no valuables, he had no desire to inconvenience the owner.

How Vice Works.

Before vice can fasten on a man, body, mind or moral nature must be debilitated. The mosses and fungi gather on sickly trees, not thriving ones; and the odious parasites which fasten on the human frame, choose that which is already enfeebled.—Excuses

School of Brothers and Sisters.

The doting father and mother of an only child lavish money like water upon it, and would not wish to be told that they are only half educating the little life that they cherish with such devoted care. Nevertheless, the only child can never be but half educated, because it misses the better half of the precious early school—brother and sister playmates. The teachers in that school are the youngsters themselves, and the lessons they teach one another are not written in books, but are none the less indispensable. Also, what is there learned is last forgotten.—New York Press

Girls Who Love Books.

Girls who love books will find in them all that makes life pleasant, according to the opinion of Isaac Barrow. Concerning book-loving girls he wrote: "She that loveth a book will never want a faithful friend, a whole some counselor, a cheerful companion, an effectual comforter. By study by reading, by thinking, one may unconsciously divert and pleasantly entertain oneself, as in all weathers, so in all fortunes."—Home Notes
